

Learning & Development

Bespoke Learning & Development Programmes

WELL Training design and build bespoke learning & development programmes based on clients learning & development requirements. Delivering programmes, virtually, in person or through a hybrid delivery model, suited to clients employees and business needs, ensuring that every development programme has an immediate and lasting impact.

Target Audience

Whether seeking to upskill an internal L&D team with a workshop on the emerging developments in L&D, or looking to develop an internal team who can deliver company training. Participants will have a passion for the transformative nature of L&D and will be looking to apply their own learning into their training immediately.

Learning & Development Academies

WELL Training will become a client's silent partner and secret weapon! Working in partnership to build an holistic approach to L&D talent development, ensuring any business has the internal bench strength to support growth and future development. WELL can include a fully mapped and developing Learning and Development Academy that will facilitate the successful delivery of employer programmes.

Accredited Qualification

A range of accredited qualifications are available from Level 3 to Level 7 and at all levels of L&D competence. WELL can train and accredit L&D professionals with a variety of teaching and assessment, as well as internal verification qualifications.
